Subject: RE: Our call at 3pm eastern today

Thanks, aside from happy Thanksgiving and summary of lots of behind the scene action, I don't know that there's any communication from our side that is time-critical for today so I am good with deferring this week's call. I'll even admit that my schedule had actually become a little complicated this afternoon as well.

A few items by way of update:

(1) Most notably Tetra Tech was asking when they might receive the hard drive, more so for the potential supplemental native files (base maps and such) that may be included than the model just now since we are prepping figures for documents of course.

(2) As you'd expect we're very active at the moment with both the PMP and RDWP, as well as project organization and preliminary prep of the subsequent deliverables.

(3) More just fyi if folks happen to ask, I think we may still attend the January CAG meeting by way of presence.

I've got a broad status update with Tetra Tech shortly, and unless I get any particular input that's critical to relay, I'm good deferring our regularly scheduled call to the 15th, the next recurring time if you are in agreement? Certainly we can reach out in between if items or questions arise.

I will need to leave by 3:30pm eastern or so – should we keep the call and just talk for ½ hr, or re-schedule?

I don't have anything to report or ask about.
